Welcome!

On behalf of over 24,000 residents, I wish to welcome you to Moon Township, Pennsylvania! Moon Township is known for its excellent schools, quality of life, active community, and strategic location.

This is an exciting time for our township. Moon residents enjoy three spectacular parks and over 600 acres of green space. Our largest park, Moon Park, has recently undergone much development with additional amenities planned for 2021. Look for the opening of the new Miracle League field this spring or stop on by Moon Park and join in on a game of pickleball, basketball, or tennis.

Moon area seniors are invited to join the newly built Moon Senior Connection center at Tapestry. Moon Senior Connection has over 600 members and offers daily activities including, arts & crafts, music, exercise classes, cards, bingo, lunches, and the occasional adventure out to local exhibits. Each year the Board of Supervisors allows for local road improvements and improvements to the township facilities. In 2021, the Township will undertake several building renovations and additions and move forward with plans to design a new public safety building to house the Moon Township Police department. The Moon Area School District continues to receive acclamations for the education it provides for the students and Robert Morris University since opening the UPMC Event Center has brought entertainment options for all ages to this region.

While we look forward to a bright future, we always remember our history. The story is that settlers arriving in what is today the western portion of Allegheny County named the region "Moon" after the crescent-shaped curvature of the Ohio River. From men like John Meek, Robert Loudon, and John Vail, who received the first land grants that eventually formed Moon Township, to the Mooncrest residents who produced armor plates, munitions, and ships during World War II, to the aviation pioneers who opened our township to new businesses, Moon Township has enjoyed a long history of growth and prosperity.

I think I can speak for our township Board of Supervisors and staff when I say that we take our responsibilities seriously. Our 2021 budget allows us to continue with capital improvements, maintain our street program, allow for stormwater improvements, provide the highest levels of safety, and increases parks and recreation programming. But what is truly noteworthy, we can do all this without increasing taxes.

So again, welcome to Moon Township! Get involved in the community, study a new interest, support the local businesses, visit our farmers' market, and enjoy the parks and nearly 20 miles of trails. We are so glad you decided to Make It Moon! It is a great place to live, learn, work, and play.

HISTORY

Origin

Moon Township has evolved significantly since its beginnings as a farm-based community. As the oldest township in Allegheny County, founded in 1788, Moon Township had a total area of 143 square miles. Some reports indicate that it would take one man on horseback two days to travel from one end of the community to the other. This geographically large township eventually spawned into 55 smaller municipalities, including the current neighboring townships of North Fayette, Findlay, Crescent, and the borough of Coraopolis.

In its early days, settlers depended heavily on the hunting and farming economy for survival. The excess of farm production at the end of the 18th century brought about a need for industries such as gristmill, sawmill, and fulling mill. By 1803, the Industrial Revolution had arrived, and the township continued to experience significant economic growth into the 20th century when roadways and railroads opened Moon as an attractive place for people to settle and raise their families. Both the Sewickley Bridge, which was originally constructed in 1911, and the Pennsylvania & Lake Erie Railroad contributed significantly to the township's tremendous population growth.

During World War II, a production boom created a great housing need for workers stationed at factories on Neville Island and along the Ohio River which led to the U.S. government building the Mooncrest neighborhood.

Growth

Moon Township's largest percentage of growth came in 1952 when the Greater Pittsburgh Airport, later named Pittsburgh International Airport, was completed. One year later, construction on the Penn Lincoln Parkway was complete, making the commute to downtown Pittsburgh from Moon Township possible in about 20 minutes. These two large development projects contributed to a population increase of 24 percent between 1950 and 1957. They also led to a housing boom that created more than 1,250 homes in a decade-long period.

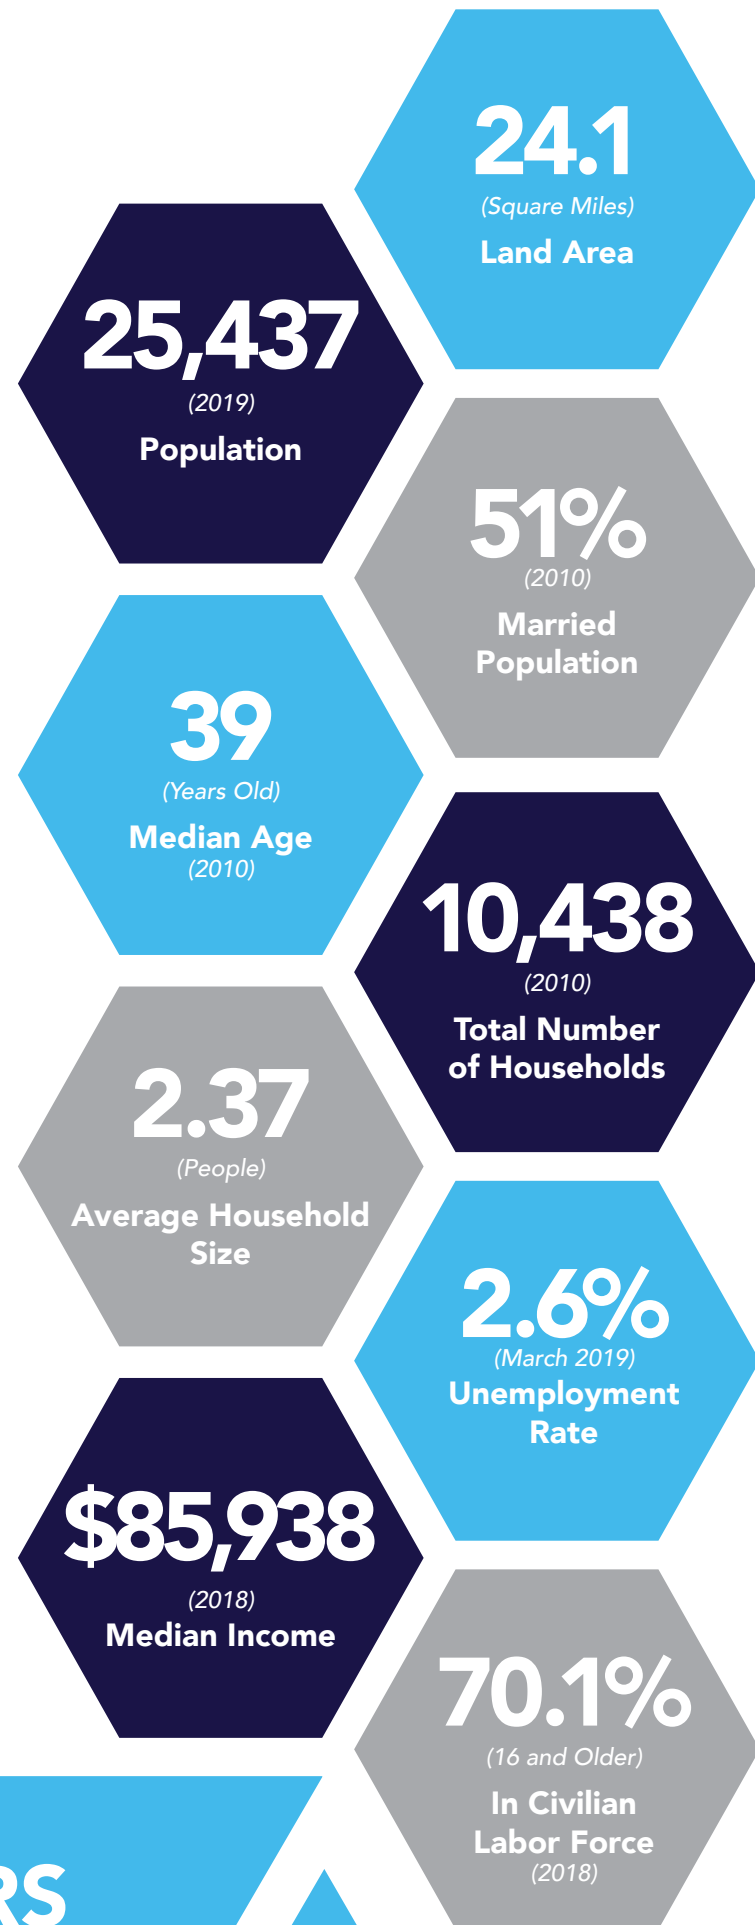

The township faced some challenges in the early 1990s when the airport relocated to Findlay Township. At that time, the Moon Township Board of Supervisors developed a forward-thinking plan that would help sustain growth. Although Moon lost a great source for business development, the township continued to experience growth. Today it's home to many high-profile national corporations, including Chevron, Eaton, FedEx Corporate Office, Calgon Carbon, Michael Baker, Nova Chemicals, ServiceLink, and McKesson, as well as several military installations including the U.S. Air Force 911th Airlift Wing and the U.S. Army Reserve 316th Sustainment Command. The highly ranked Moon Area School District provides opportunities for a lifetime of learning. Also, Moon Township serves as the home of Robert Morris University, which has a very strong business curriculum and educates nearly 5,500 students annually.

Future

Members of the Moon Township Board of Supervisors and the administration continue to market this community as an exciting place to start or develop any type of business. Moon Township has a rich history as an economically strong community and hopes to continue to experience growth that will keep the tax-base strong while maintaining green space and allowing the township to offer a variety of services to its residents.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

The Moon Township Community Development Department is responsible for the coordination and implementation of all land development, property improvement, and code enforcement regulations within Moon Township.

Building Regulation Department

Moon Township's Building Inspector is responsible for enforcing state and local building regulations in both new and existing structures as well as approving contractors' building permits. Questions about building permits should be directed here.

Planning Department

The Moon Township Planning Department reviews all land development applications for compliance with the Subdivision and Land Development Ordinance and Zoning Ordinance. This review includes the coordination of plans to be considered by the Moon Township Planning Commission and the Moon Township Board of Supervisors.

The purpose of the Community Development Department is to facilitate and manage sustainable development in Moon Township that meets the needs of individual property owners and the Township within the parameters of the comprehensive plan and the Township Code of Ordinances. This is to be accomplished through dynamic land-use regulations, thorough inspections, community involvement, and excellent internal and external communication. The Department strives to enhance the physical environment and improve the quality of life for all residents, commercial businesses, and visitors.

The Board of Supervisors adopted the updated Moon Township Comprehensive Plan in April of 2015. This document is a guide that shapes the direction of the community's preservation and development activities and establishes community development policies. The plan defines the document's vision and aspirations and outlines a roadmap to assist the community in making decisions about its future. You can access this document from the Moon Township website.

The Community Development Department staff serves as liaison to the following Boards and Commissions that help guide development in the Township: Planning Commission, Zoning Hearing Board, Historical and Architectural Review Board (HARB), and the Environmental Advisory Council (EAC). Any subdivisions, land developments, or conditional use applications are administered by staff and presented to the Planning Commission for their recommendation. The Zoning Hearing Board conducts public hearings for variance and special exception applications. The HARB makes recommendations to the Board of Supervisors regarding the Mooncrest historic district and the preservation of the township's historic resources. The EAC provides advice to the Township on environmental issues and develops programs promoting green initiatives and best management practices.

The Community Development Department processes building permit requests and conducts building inspections. Always contact the Building Inspector before starting a project to determine if you are required to obtain a permit. Permits are required for all new building construction, additions, sheds, swimming pools, decks, porches, garages, fireplaces, electric systems, new driveways, and other projects as listed in the Pennsylvania Uniform Construction Code and the Moon Township Code of Ordinances. Other key functions include enforcement of the zoning code(s), the Property Maintenance Code, and responding to citizen concerns related to such matters. Additional information can be obtained from the Moon Township website, www.moontwp.us.
